

Notice to Public

It has come to the attention of Metro East Technology Resources, Inc. (“METR” or the “Company”) that an unauthorized external website (<https://www.metroeasttech.com/>) has been fraudulently using the Company’s name and address without METR’s approval, knowledge, or consent.

This unauthorized website presents itself as an online platform offering lending, loan-related, and other services and contains information or representations that may mislead the public into believing that it is owned, operated, authorized, or endorsed by METR.

Please be advised that METR has no affiliation with, ownership of, control over, or involvement in this website and does not authorize, endorse, or support any of the content, services, offers, representations, or communications made through this site.

The Company’s official website is <http://www.metr.ph/>. This is the only website used and maintained by METR. Thus, any other website, platform, page, account, or communication purporting to represent the Company, unless expressly confirmed through the Company’s official channels, should be treated with utmost caution.

Furthermore, kindly be advised that METR does not engage, and has never engaged, in lending or financing activities. The Company does not offer loans, credit facilities, or any similar financial products or services, as these activities do not form part of its primary business purpose. Accordingly, any website, entity, platform, account, communication, or person claiming to offer lending or financing services under the name of METR, or purporting to be owned, operated, authorized, or associated with METR, should not be believed or relied upon.

METR likewise wishes to emphasize that it does not process transactions, ask for personal information or financial information, or send official communications through unverified websites or landline/mobile numbers, third-party platforms, or non-official email domains. The official email addresses of METR’s officers and employees end in “@metr.com.ph” and “@metr.ph” only. You may also visit <http://www.metr.ph/> to verify METR’s registered office address in the Philippines.

METR strongly advises all clients, partners, and members of the public to exercise caution when dealing with any website, email, message, call, or other communication claiming to represent the Company. Please do not share personal, financial, or sensitive information with unverified sources, and please ensure that all communications originate only from the Company’s official website, official email domain, or other duly authorized channels.

If you have received messages from or have been affected by any scam by anyone claiming to represent METR outside of the official domains listed above, please immediately report the matter to the Company through: report@metr.ph.

METR is taking appropriate steps to address this matter and protect our clients, partners, and members of the public from potential misuse of its identity.

Thank you for your cooperation and continued vigilance.